INDEX TO VOL. CXCVII.

ACADEMIC PERIL, THE, 663.

ACROSS ASIA MINOR ON FOOT, 162. February: Astonishing sights on the Bagdad Road, 164—an odd beggar, 165—the American Mission at Marsovan, 167—Amasia, 169—its charms, ib.—trouble about passport, 170 et seq.—cave-dwellers, 172—good and bad khans, 173—arrival at Jelat, 174. March: Tokat, 337 et seq.—tobacco smuggling, 339—an English sportsman, 341—threatened massacre of Armenians at Yeni, and repressive measures, 342—men praying by roadside, 343—American Mission in Sivas, 344—call on Armenian bishop of Sivas, 345—my araba driver's peculiarities, 346—savage dogs, 347—a great mountain, 349—arrival in Kaisariyeh, 350—Ighsan, my new man, ib. et seq.—visit to the cave-dwellers' country, 352 et seq. April: Unchanged haunts of the troglodytes, 457—the remarkable valley of Geuremé, 458 et seq.—Nevshehir and its new khan, 460—rambles among the rock villages, 461 et seq.—Asia Minor a land of castles, 464—curiosity of the natives at Enighil, 465 et seq.—precautions against robbers, 469—German railway activities in the Taurus mountains, 472—at Konia, 474. May: Share quarters with Turkish officers, 633—life in a khan at Takhta Keupru, 635—held up by snow, 638—Tarsus, 643—Adana, commercial capital of the rich Cilician plain, 645—travel in company with British Consul to Missis, 647 et seq. June: Drawbacks of travelling with a Consular kavass, 819—Hamidieh, 820 et seq.—severe tramping to Baghche, 823 et seq.—hospitality of German official there, and Consul's return to Adana, 826—over the mountains to El Oghlu, 828—from Marash set out to visit the Zeitoun district, 832—from Aintab to Aleppo, 836 et seq.—Alexandretta, 841.

ADVENTURES OF A DESPATCH RIDER: THE GREAT MARCHES, 577—THE BATTLE OF THE AISNE, 842.

America and contraband, 275.

Asquith, Mr, and Lord Kitchener, 714.

BELGIUM, WITH RAWLINSON IN, 279.

BELLIGERENTS AND NEUTRALS, 499.

BLINDNESS OF GERMANY, THE, 613.

CENTURY OF INVASION SCHEMES, A, 391.

Church, attitude of the, in the middle ages, to tournaments and passages of arms, 76.

CIVILIAN CONTROL IN WAR, 186.

CLOUD, THE PILLAR OF, AND THE PILLAR OF FIRE, 517.

COURTS-MARTIAL, THE QUESTION OF NAVAL, 530.

DAY, THE, 651.

DESPATCH RIDER, ADVENTURES OF A: THE GREAT MARCHES, 577. I., Prologue, ib.—II., The Advance to Mons, 580—III., The Battle of Mons, 583—IV., The Battle of Le Cateau, 588—V., The Retreat, 593—VI., The Advance to the Marne, 602—VII., The Battle of the Marne, 605—VIII., From the Marne to the Aisne, 608. THE BATTLE OF THE AISNE, 842. I., Strategy in the Ranks, ib.—II., The Division on the Aisne, 844—III., The Despatch Riders, 845—IV., Alarums and Excursions, 851—V., Life on the Aisne, 854—VI., The March from the Aisne, 857.

DIARY OF A SUBALTERN: Preparations in England, 1—Preparations in France, 2—"The Retreat," 8—The Advance, 141—The Move to Flanders, 356—Trench Life in the Early Days, 476.

Diary of James Gallatin: see A Great Peacemaker and his Son.

DIRIGIBLES AND AEROPLANES IN THE WAR, 425. Strength of Germany's fleet of dirigibles on outbreak of war, 426 et seq.—reinforcements since then, 428—lifting power of Zeppelins, 430—type of bombs used, 431—value of dirigible exaggerated and of aeroplane underestimated, 432—the art of dropping projectiles, 433—steel darts, 434—British Flying Corps raids on Friedrichshafen and Cuxhaven, 436—recent aerial raids on Germans in Belgium, 437—reasons for lessened activity of German aviators, 438—hydro-aeroplanes, 441.

DIVERGENT OPERATIONS IN WAR, 756.

DRESSER, DIARY OF A, IN THE SERBIAN UNIT OF THE SCOTTISH WOMEN'S HOSPITAL, 776.

EGYPT, THE NEW, 213. Early agreements between Turkey and Egypt, ib.—basis of British position in Egypt, 214—saved the Porte a great deal of trouble and expenditure, 215—German efforts to upset British administration in Egypt, 216—war between England and Turkey makes political situation anomalous, 218—danger of a Turkish invasion very great, 220—anomalous situation ended by proclaiming Egypt a British Protectorate, 224 et seq.

Enemies' possessions oversea, attack of, principle of British policy in eighteenth century, 757.

England and France, unpreparedness of, for war, 139.

FIRE, THE PILLAR OF CLOUD AND THE PILLAR OF, 517.

FIRST HUNDRED THOUSAND, THE: VII., Shooting Straight, 61—VIII., Billets, 202—IX., Mid-Channel, 207—X., Deeds of Darkness, 325—XI., Olympus, 442—XII., . . . and some fell by the Wayside, 450—XIII., Concert Pitch, 623.

France and Germany, Carlyle on, 130 et seq.—Germany's cant, 132—French Yellow Book, 133—the hopes and plans of Germany, 135.

FRANCE, FROM AN INDIAN POST-OFFICE IN, 538.

'France in Danger,' by M. Paul Vergnet, notice of, 705—the aim of Pan-Germanism, 706—the United States of Europe, 707.

German avalanche, the, 704.

GERMAN LINES, THROUGH THE, 715.

German outrages in Belgium, plainness of the record of, 863 et seq.—a pariah among the peoples, 867.

GERMANY, THE BLINDNESS OF, 613. Ignorance regarding the mind of nations outside her own boundaries, ib. et seq.—officialdom and bureaucracy reign supreme, 617—lies of the German Press Bureau, 620 et seq.

GOING NORTH, 228.

Government, the new, 860—its first duty a form of conscription, 862.

Great Britain, the friends of, 277.

GREAT JOUST, A, 76.

GREAT PEACEMAKER AND HIS SON, A, 311.

Haldane, Lord, indiscretions of, 709.

'History of the British Army,' by Hon. J. W. Fortescue, quoted, 761.

INDIAN POST-OFFICE, FROM AN, IN FRANCE, 538.

India's "untouchables": see The Prince, 772.

INTO THE TUNDRA, 676.

INVASION SCHEMES, A CENTURY OF, 391.

JOUST, A GREAT, 76.

JUNKER, THE OLD: A SOUVENIR, 156.

"K (1)," 755.

Kitchener, Lord, and Mr Asquith, 714.

LAW OF THE MEDES, THE, 175.

LEVANT, THE LION OF THE, 42. Mohammed Ali, founder of the Khedival dynasty of Egypt, ib.—early years, 43—in command of Turkish army driven into the sea by Bonaparte, but saved from drowning, 44—appears again amongst Turks allied with British forces in defeating the French, 45—abandons the Turkish cause and makes an alliance with the Mamelukes, 47—defeats British force, 48—massacre of Mamelukes planned by, 49—methods of governing Egypt, 51—warfare and diplomatic struggles, 52 et seq.—persuaded to come to terms with the Sultan, 58—the present situation in Egypt, 59.

MEDES, THE LAW OF THE, 175.

MUHAMMAD YUSUF, NASR: HIS TRIP TO GHAZNI, 19.

MUSINGS WITHOUT METHOD: January, 130—February, 268—March, 414—April, 565—May, 704—June, 860.

'Napoleon and Waterloo,' by Captain A. F. Becke, notice of, 868.

'Napoleon the Gaoler,' by Mr Fraser, a curious page of the past in, 423—a gallant young Englishman's journal, ib.

NAVAL COURTS-MARTIAL, THE QUESTION OF, 530.

NEUTRALS, BELLIGERENTS AND, 499.

NEW EGYPT, THE, 213.

NICKY-NAN, RESERVIST, Chaps. VII.-IX., 87—X.-XII., 249—XIII.-XV., 369—XVI.-XVIII., 546—XIX.-XXI., 685—XXII.-XXIV. (the end), 798.

OLD PIPRIAC, 36.

OUTPOSTS, FROM THE—
Muhammad Yusuf, Nasr: His Trip to Ghazni, 19.

Going North, 228.
A Prophet with Honour, 240.
Paniála Date Fair, 403.
A Run with the Yola Drag, 513.
Suli Yola, 672.
PANIÁLA DATE FAIR, 403.
PEACEMAKER, A GREAT, AND HIS SON, 311.
PERIL, THE ACADEMIC, 663.
PILLAR OF CLOUD, THE, AND THE PILLAR OF FIRE, 517.
PIPRIAC, OLD, 36.
Politicians in war-time, 711—drink and rhetoric, 713.
POWER OF WATER, BY THE, 116.
PRINCE, THE, 772.
Prisoners of war, treatment of, 422.
PROPHET WITH HONOUR, A, 240.
Radical creed, guilelessness of Kaiser first article in the, 137—Lord Haldane's love of the Kaiser, ib.—Mr M'Kenna and Mr Blatchford, 138—assumed ignorance of the Radical party, ib.
RAWLINSON IN BELGIUM, WITH, 279. Appointed Interpreter to 21st Infantry Brigade, ib.—embarkation, ib.—arrival at Zeebrugge, 280—march on Bruges, ib.—arrive at Ostend, but march back to Bruges, 281—retreat on Beernem, 282—sumptuously entertained, ib.—retreat on Ypres, 283—evidences of German visit, ib.—brigade entrench at Halte all night and retire on Gheluvelt next day, 284—baptism of fire, 285—heavy shell fire, 286—wonderful escapes, &c., 287—prisoners, 288—critical position, 289—supports arrive, 290—spy incidents, ib. et seq.—uncomfortable quarters, 295—a narrow shave for the brigade, 297—first shell thrown into Ypres, 298—tribute to R.A.M.C., 300—hot headquarters, 301—heavy losses of the brigade, 304—Germans concentrating best troops in Flanders with a view of breaking through to Calais or Boulogne, 305—a peppery French general, ib.—brigade inspection a pathetic sight, 307—at Bailleul, ib.—first church parade since leaving Lyndhurst, 308—writer's recall, 309—what the brigade achieved, 310.
SCOTTISH WOMEN'S HOSPITAL, DIARY OF A DRESSER IN THE SERBIAN UNIT OF THE, 776.
SHINROE, THE SHOOTING OF, 486.
Sporting kings, exactions of early, for land granted at a nominal rent, 106—tenants provide refreshment for overlords, 108.
Strike, the, in a moment of public crisis, 565—working men duped by their leaders, 567—the guilt of the Government, ib.—Lord Kitchener's speech, 569.
SUBALTERN, DIARY OF A, 1. January: Mobilisation and embarkation, 2 et seq.—in France, 4—progress to Belgian frontier, 5 et seq.—baptism of fire, 9—falling back, 10—an anxious time, 12 et seq.—object accomplished, 17—retreat at an end, 18. February: Advancing at last, 141—signs of hurried German retreat, 142—German column shelled, and remnant surrenders, 144—"Silent Susan," 147—dug-outs, ib.—on a patrol, 148—bringing in wounded, 149—an attack beaten off, 151—trenches and billets, 152 et seq. March: To Flanders by train, 356—finding billets for the regiment, 358—a dinner-party, 360—cross the Belgian frontier for the second time, 362—outside Ypres, 363—a narrow escape, 367—invalided home with wrenched knee, 368. April: Trench life in the early days, 476.
TENURES—SPORTING AND SPORTIVE, 105.
THE DAY, 651.
THE OLD JUNKER: A SOUVENIR, 156.
THROUGH THE GERMAN LINES: I., The Move to the Front, 715—II., Fontaine-au-Tertre and Haucourt, 719—III., The Attempt to Rejoin, 725—IV., Across the German Lines of Communication, 733.
TUNDRA, INTO THE, 676.
Union of Democratic Control, the, 414—an easy settlement for the Kaiser, 416—the leaders of the pro-Germans, 419.
War, after the, 571—cranks, ib.—Messrs Wells and Shaw, 573—amazing megalomania of Germany, 575.
WAR, CIVILIAN CONTROL IN, 186.
WAR, DIRIGIBLES AND AEROPLANES IN THE, 425.
WAR, DIVERGENT OPERATIONS IN, 756.
War, progress of the, debate in the House of Lords concerning, 268—Lord Kitchener's statement, ib.—Lord Haldane's defence of the Government's inaction, 272.
WATER, BY THE POWER OF, 116.
YOLA DRAG, A RUN WITH THE, 513.
YOLA, SULI, 672.

Printed by William Blackwood and Sons.